CONTROVERSY AT PURDUE

MAY HAVE A BAD EFFECT ON THE SCHOOL'S ATHLETICS.

Illness of Prof. Campbell, of Wabash College-Mutinous Virginia Military

Cadets-Other School News.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 11.-President W. E. Stone, of Purdue University, to-day announced that A. T. Wyancki, a graduate of Guelph (Ontario) Agricultural College in 1896, and at present instructor in agriculture at the University of Nebraska, had been selected to fill the position of associate professor of agriculture at Purdue. He will assume his new duties on Jan. 1, 1903. His work will be in soils, crops and agricultural physics.

The action of the Athletic Association in repudiating the action of its insignia board by awarding P's to Emise and Minch, members of the football team, after the insignia board had decided they were below the 'varsity caliber and not entitled to the honorary letter, has called forth a signed announcement from the insignia board members. In answer to a charge that the board did not sufficiently investigate the status of the individual players the statement says: "If any charge of gross neglect could be entertained it should be laid at the feet of former Captain Leslie. According to the constitution its recommendation to the board must be signed and proposed by both the coach and captain of the team. however, was not done. The captain alone proposed the recommendation and found a ready chance to confer favors on his individual acquaintances.

The announcement was a surprise to every one and reveals the controversy that has stirred up the athletic authorities and caused a division that may be difficult to heal. Captain Leslie, at the last athletic meeting, declared that if Emise and Manch were not awarded letters he did not care to have one, and intimated that he would have nothing further to do with the athletic management. His stand resulted in the Athletic Association refusing to accept the report of the insignia board and deciding to waive the section of the constitution regarding the insignia board's award of letters. The members of the insignia board are P. E. Crumrine, William L. Rus-sell, W. E. Miller, Fred C. Hohn and M. H.

Sickness of Prof. Campbell.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 11 .-Prof. John L. Campbell, of Wabash College, is quite ill. Last evening he was taken with a severe coughing spell, and it was only by the administration of powerful stimulants that he was kept alive. About four weeks ago he had a similar spell. The trouble was caused by a weak heart and a partial filling of the lungs with fluid. The doctors say he needs a rest. He has been connected with the college for fifty-six years.

PROBLEM PLAYS BARRED.

Northwestern Co-Eds Will Not Present Pinero's "The Amazons."

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 .- The faculty of Northwestern University has dealt amateur dramatics at the Methodist institution a blow by forbidding the presentation of "The Amazons," one of Pinero's problem plays, at the Studebaker on Jan. 11. The play was to be given by the Red Dominos, a student dramatic club, and now some of the members declare they will leave Northwestern and go to the University of Chicago, where the drama is encouraged. It is hinted that the character of the play had much to do with the faculty's re-The scene is laid in modern England, and Miriam, Marchioness of Castlejordan, the heroine, is the mother of three daughters. The plot hinges on the fact that the marchioness is sorry her daughters are not all boys, and so she decided to imand give them boys' educations. It is thought that the faculty disapproves of the appearance of Northwestern co-eds in knickerbockers, or even in short skirts, posing as boys.

Suicide of a Professor's Wife.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 11 .- The body of Mrs. Barber, wife of Professor Barber, a member of the faculty of the Kansas State University, who disappeared yesterday, was found in the river near here to-day. The position of the woman's clothes, found on the bank, indicates that she had planned suicide. The search for the body was conducted by the entire body of 1,200 students. Mrs. Barber was afflicted with insomnia. She was Miss Florence Barrett, daughter of a retired Methodist minister, before her marriage a year ago. She graduated from the Kansas University several years ago and afterwards became a member of the faculty in the German department.

Students Must Not Bet.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 11.-President Angell and the faculty of the University of Michigan have taken a decided stand against betting by students under their jurisdiction. Wagers aggregating about $4,000, it is said, were posted at one hotel here on the Thanksgiving day football game. The most conspicuous contributors to the new university buildings are: Andrew Carnegie, $100,000; Louis H. Severance, Cleveland, $75,000, and H. C. Frick, Pittsburg, $35,000. LEXINGTON, Va., Dec. 11.-Fifty-six cadets, embracing nearly all the third class of the cadet corps of the Military Institute, are under close arrest for discharging fireworks at midnight from the roof of the academy building last night. This breach of discipline is alleged to be due to the refusal of the board of visitors to the school to grant an application for ten days' Christmas holiday.

SUFFERING FOR COAL

and Children Are Dying.

Distress So Great that Men, Women

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 .- J. E. Swanstrom, president of the Borough of Brooklyn, has decided to start a movement to assure a coal supply to Brooklyn and to end all suffering there for all winter. He will ask all the ministers of the churches in Brooklyn, the heads of charity organizations and prominent citizens to meet early next week in the Court of Special Sessions, in the City Hall, Brooklyn, to organize for the end in view. On authority which admits of no doubt, it was learned that President Swanstrom, at that meeting, will suggest that Mayor Low take some action for the other boroughs. Not alone in Brooklyn, but in all the boroughs of the city there is a loud and in-sistent cry for relief, and the boards of the other boroughs agree that something must be done, as the city has been held fast by the cold wave for more than a week, and suffering has been increased hourly. Men, women and children have died. Heads of families have offered any money for coal, and the dealers have shaken their heads and said, "There is not a pound of coal in the yards," although nearly 60,000 tons are arriving daily. Mayor Low has refused to be interviewed on the subject. His secretary spoke for him and said: "As no notice of any suffering has been brought to the mayor's attention by private citizens, he does not feel compelled to do anything just now."

ANDREW CARNEGIE HOME.

Arrives on the Steamer Oceanic, After a Stormy Passage.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.-The White Star line steamer Oceanic, on which Andrew Carnegie is a passenger, arrived early today from Liverpool and Queenstown, after a stormy passage of six days, twenty hours and twenty-three minutes. Almost from the time of leaving Daunt's rock, the Oceanic had southerly winds, with heavy head seas, which each day increased in force until, on the 8th, the wind came out from the westnorthwest with hall and snow and blew with terrific force. Mr. Carnegie, who showed the effects of his recent illness, talked freely with newspaper men. He said he never felt better in his life. He had nothing to say about his future plans further than that he should go directly to his new home and would make his further plans after resting.

There are Spanish and English copies of the protocol. General Bliss leaves here for New York next Saturday.

Losses by Fire.

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 11.-Fire damaged the seven-story Chase building, 44 Front street, to-day to the extent of $250 .-000. The heaviest losers were C. T. Shearer & Co., proprietors of a department store, whose loss is placed at $100,000, and the W. J. Woods Company, men's clothing, which suffered a loss of $90,000. The firemen encountered a dense smoke, and fully a dozen were overcome by smoke.

MAY END THE WAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 .- The members of the committees appointed by the National and American leagues for the purpose of effecting a peaceful termination of the baseball war will meet here to-morrow. President Ban Johnson's reply to the request for a peace conference, sent out on Wednesday evening by the National League, was delivered to Chairman Herrman, of the committee of the latter body, just before the members of the National League finprove nature, dress them in boys' clothes | ished their afternoon session at the Hotel Victoria to-day. The reply follows:

"Dear Sir-I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your communication. The gentlemen of our organization who are in the city will be pleased to confer with your committee. If it is agreeable to you, a meeting can be arranged for to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock."

Those who will take part in the conference are Ban Johnson, president of the American League; Charles Sommers, of Cleveland; J. F. Kilfoyle, president of the Cleveland club; August Herrman, of Cincinnati; James Hart, of Chicago, and Frank De Hass Robison, of St. Louis, the three last named representing the National League. Upon the receipt of Mr. Johnson's communication the National League magnates replied, agreeing to the meeting. At the National League meeting to-day matters of minor detail were discussed, including the Manhattan field difficulty. Tomorrow officers will be elected.

The National League magnates at the night session discussed ways and means of ridding themselves of the old National League grounds in Baltimore and Washingon. It was found that the disposal of the Washington grounds, which the league has been carrying along at a yearly rental, could be made easier than that of the grounds at Baltimore. Ban Johnson and the members of the American League, when seen to-night, refused to discuss the proposed conference to-morrow. John Montgomery Ward announced in a letter received at the headquarters today that he was not a candidate for the presidency of the National League, and, urther, that under no circumstances would it be possible for him to accept. Charles W. Somers, of Cleveland, O., said to-night: "We will have three propositions to submit to our friends. First, the two eagues should recognize each other's reserves so that we can build up our teams without having players leave us just when they become valuable; second, there is to be no change in the American League territory. Under no circumstances will we leave New York city. Third, nonconflicting dates and an interchange of games between local teams, before and after the season.

Berry Awarded to Dallas.

Manager Watkins vesterday received notice from Secretary Farrell, of the National Association of Minor Leagues, stating that Claude Berry, a catcher signed by Indianapolis, had been awarded to Dallas, Tex. Berry was with the Dallas club last year, and it was claimed that Dallas had a two years' contract with him covering 1903. The national association decided that that contract was valid.

A sailor named Costello, of the United States ship Wasp, whom the San Juan police shot Monday night in a row between a number of sailors and the police, died yesterday. As a result of the row a sailor named Hibbs, belonging to the Wasp, was held for trial before the Porto Rican District Court for assaulting the police lieutenant, Cabreria, who was badly bruised by kicks and punches. The navy men are incensed at the action of the police, and say the shooting of Costello was unwarranted, as the sailors were unarmed. They also claim that the sailors did not attack Cabreria until after he shot Costello.

SAD FATE OF A BOY.

Five-Year-Old Found Dead from Cold with Tears Frozen on His Face.

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 11.-Last Sunday afternoon Willie Hinger, aged five years, was sent on an errand by his parents. He did not return and to-day his dead body was found on the plazza of a laundryman's house, outside the city limits. It is supposed he arrived at the house early Sunday evening and was overcome by the cold before he could arouse the household. The door leading to the piazza where the body was found is little used and the discovery was only made to-day. Tears had frozen upon the little sufferer's face.

SIGNED ON SCRAP PAPER.

Roosevelt's Contract with Publishers of an Edition De Luxe.

Philadelphia North American. The writings of Theodore Roosevelt are about to be reissued by Gebbie & Co., the Philadelphia art publishers, at the highest price ever asked for any publications of the kind in this country. The writings comprising everything ever issued by Mr. Roosevelt in book form, are being published in four editions, of twenty-two volumes each, ranging in price from $3,300 the set to $385. Only 1,226 sets in all will be distributed through subscription, and already, before any of the volumes are ready for distribution, nearly all are sold.

Only twenty-six sets of the author's edition are to be printed. They are sold at $3,300, which is $150 a volume. Each volume contains the President's signature. They are quarto in size, printed on featherweight hand-made paper, each page bearing in water mark the President's signature. There are eighty-eight etchings and photogravures, printed in duplicate, and many of the prints signed by the artist.

Next in order of expense and sumptu-ousness comes the collector's edition of fifty sets, at $2,200 the set, similar to the former, save that the signatures are facsimiles and the binding green levant instead of red.

series, one of 150 sets, at $1,100 the set, and the other of 350 sets, at $600, the former bound in full crushed levant, in blue, and the latter in three-quarter levant. The cheapest edition, which might be called the popular edition, will cost $385, or $17.50 the volume, and is bound in half morocco, with Few persons realize the amount of lit erary work done by Mr. Roosevelt. In all e has published thirteen books, most of hem of more than one volume. The titles of the books incorporated into the sets forming "The Complete Writings of Theofore Roosevelt" are the following: "The Naval War of 1812," two volumes; "Hunting Trips of a Ranchman," two volumes; "The Wilderness Hunter," two volumes; "Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail." "The Winning of the West," six volumes; "Hero Tales from American History, Rough Riders," "American Ideals." two volumes; "Thomas H. Benton," "Gouver-neur Morris," "New York," "The Strenuous Life," "Oliver Cromwell." The inspiration which caused A. R. Keller, president of Gebbie & Co., to induce Mr. Roosevelt to sign the contract for the reproduction of his writings, was akin to prescience. Toward the close of the Spansh-American war Mr. Keller became convinced that the hero of San Juan hill would be the big figure in American politics. He started for Cuba, but missed Colonel Roosevelt, who was then on his way to Montauk Point. Hastening back to Washington, Mr. Keler procured a pass through the lines from Secretary Alger and, amed with this, set out for Montauk. He tried to get to Roosevelt at 6 in the morning and was placed under arrest. Explanation followed and he was conducted by the colonel in person to his quarters.

There Mr. Keller unfolded his mission, and was incontinently "turned down." Col. Roosevelt said that other publishers, who were his personal friends, owned the plates on which his books were published and that he owed fealty to them. But the publisher held on and piled up the arguments, explaining that he did not mean to take the published books out of circulation, but to reissue them in magnificent form for circulation by subscription. Finally colonel said: "Hold on, I must think." He jumped on his horse, tethered near his tent, and rode away at top speed. For more than half an hour he galloped around. inally coming back to his tent. Before Mr. Keller could say a word he was off again, and for half an hour longer galloped over the hills, returning with his animal snort ing and pawing.

He threw himself from the saddle with the words: "All right, I'll do it." There was not a scrap of writing material or a pen in the tent. Colonel Roosevelt produced a linen cuff and the publisher countain pen; but the ink spread. Then i occurred to them that there might be a blank sheet in some of the letters lying unopened on his camp bed. A small piece was found, and upon this, in duplicate, the contract was drawn up. Each plece is about the size of a visiting card. Neither the publisher nor Colonel Roosevelt saw the immense value of that contract at the moment it was drawn. The negotiations with publishers to gain permission to republish Mr. Roosevelt's works covered more than two years. The royalties demanded and granted are mense, Nevertheless, Mr. Roosevelt will secure a very large portion out of the $842,050 which will be paid for the works. The entire enterprise will be completed in-

Secret of Mr. Chavant's Astonishing Luck with Tomcod Discovered. New York Sun.

An enterprising man in New Jersey has invented a new device for catching tomcods, and according to all who have seen t in operation it is a wonder. Every one who has angled for this particular fish knows that it will bite anything but a bare hook. It is a matter of record that one fisherman when his bait gave out out the white of a hard-boiled egg taken from his lunch basket on the hook and caught little tomcods as fast as the line went overboard.

Any one can catch a lot of the fish. Skill s shown not so much in bringing home a basketful as in catching home a boatload. C. H. Chavant, treasurer of the Green-ville Camera Club, astonished his friends by the immensity of his catches. He has been bringing home more fish in a day than any other three anglers could capture, and for a time he was the wonder and envy of the fishing fraternity. But A rival threw his line in Newark bay not far from where Mr. Chavant was fishing recently and noticed that the camera man

was working with the queerest looking arshowed that Chavant had stripped the cov-ering from an umbrella and attached a short line with three hooks to the end of each rib. The apparatus was attached to the main fish line and thrown overboard. When he felt a nibble Mr. Chavant gave a twitch with his rod and waited for another. He didn't have long to wait, as the tomcods were biting furiously, and after a few moments of twitching he pulled up his machine and unhooked fourteen fish Now that the secret is out nearly every one in the neighborhood is using the new spreader and Mr. Chavant has lost a little of his prestige.

Mrs. Laura L. Barnes, Washington, D. C., Ladies Auxiliary to Burnside Post, No. 4, G. A. R., recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"In diseases that come to women only. as a rule, the doctor is called in, sometimes several doctors, but still matters go from bad to worse; but I have never known of a case of female weakness which was not helped when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used faithfully. For young women who are subject to headaches, backache, irregular or painful periods, and nervous attacks due to the severe strain on the system by some organic trouble, and for women of advanced years in the most trying time of life, it serves to correct every trouble and restore a healthy action of all organs of the body.

"Lydia E.Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a household reliance in my home, and I would not be without it. In all my experience with this medicine, which covers years, I have found nothing to equal it and al-ways recommend it." - MRS. LAURA L. BARNES, 607 Second St., N. E., Washington, D. WORLD-SHAKING EARTHQUAKES. Prof. Milne on "Siesmological Observations and Earth Physics." In the theater of the University, Burlington Gardens, Prof. John Milne read a paper before the members of the Royal Geogra ical Society on "World-shaking Earthquakes," or rather his paper was more accurately styled "Seismological Observation and Earth Physics." He said the chie object of his paper was to point out the character of the information derived from earthquake investigations, which threw light upon the physical nature of the interior of the world, and the geomorpho ical changes in operation on or surface. The earthquakes considered were divided into two groups-first, those which disturbed continental areas, and frequently disturbed the world as a whole; and, second, local earthquakes, which usually only disturb an area of a few miles radius and seldom extended over an area with a radius of 100 or 200 miles. The former class were the result of sudden accelerations in the process of rock folding accompanied by faulting and molar displacements of considerable magnitude; while the latter were, for the most part, settlements and adjustments along the lines of their primary fractures. The relationship between th two groups of earthquakes was, therefore, that of parents and children. The former would be referred to as macroseismic disturbances, or large earthquakes, and the latter microseismic disturbances, or small earthquakes. With regard to the violent movements of a large earthquake, they gradually changed in character as they radiated, until at a certain distance from their origin, although they could not be feit, evidence of their existence still rethe motion of the water in lakes and ponds observed in England, Scandinavia North America, although the ground itself was not observed to move, was attributed to pulsations in the soil, which had radiated from the coast of Portugal. Another form of evidence had, from time to time, been furnished by astronomers; one M. Nyren, May 10, 1877, observed disturbances in the level on the axis of the transit of Pulkova. This was attributed to an earthquake which had occurred at Iquique. Nyren also referred to other oscillations of level observed at Pulkova to distant earthquakes. It was not unlikely that every large earthquake might, with proper appliances, be recorded at any point on the land surface of the globe. When a large earthquake took place it seemed to propagate a series of waves all through the world, and in all directions over its surface. The first movements passed through a diameter of the earth in about twenty-two minutes, which implied an average velocity of about 9.6 kilometers per second. These of about 9.6 kilometers per second. movements were compressional in charforming the principal of a seismogram, were the larger waves. Their average period varied between fifteen and thirty seconds, but periods exceeding sixty sec-onds had been observed. He inclined to the opinion that the movement was of an undulatory character-like an ocean swell. Contrary observations supported a surface undulation. He declared that it was easy to measure the difference in time between the arrival of preliminary tremors and large waves of motion. There is no doubt that there was a relationship between the distribution of the origins of large earthquakes and the pronounced irregularities on the surface of the earth. Where steep slopes existed on the shores of all quarters of the world the larger earthquakes originated. When world-shaking earthquake took place, and the origin was suboceanic, they occasionally got evidence that it had been accompanied by the bodily displacement of very large masses of material; and a long series of such cases were quoted between 1692 and 1899. Illustrations of the relationship between sudden movements in rock-fords and displays of volcanic activity were to be found in the eruptions in the West Indies, and the large earthquakes which had occurred in that region. The Antillean ridge was one of unusual instability, and, in consequence of this characteristic, it was responsive to adjustments in neighboring ords. There were about 30,000 small earthquakes every year throughout the world, but these did not give rise to serious disturbances, though they affected an area varying from ten miles to several hundreds of square miles. He urged, in conclusion, the utility and importance of making observations all over the world.

100,000 Private Cars.

New York Tribune. Most people probably think the number of private cars, in comparison with the total amount of rolling stock of the railroads, is so small as to be negligible. Figures, however, tell a different story. J. W. McCall, railroad man of Baltimore, spoke about it yesterday at the Imperial. "Some time ago," he said, "some one figured out how many private cars there were in operation. He found that there were over 100,000 cars belonging to other than railroad corporations in America. This involves an annual expenditure of $10,000,000 for mileage, These private lines are a drain on railway income, but no single line can afford to refuse to haul them. Some months ago the Southern Pacific gave notice it would not use private fruit cars, but it rescinded the order. All big provision, fruit and grain companies have lines of rolling stock that would equip a moderate-sized rail-
